Medical Journals

List of Those to be Found at the Public Library, 19th and Stout Streets.

An S following the name of a journal shows it is subscribed for and paid for by the Library. All others are given to the library. The years indicate the volumes on hand; for example, '83-'87, means that the library has the volumes from 1883 to 1887, both inclusive; if there is a comma between the two dates it means the library has the journals only for the years given. All the journals are arranged on the shelves alphabetically by their names. Each journal is numbered, and all are in consecutive order according to these numbers. In this list the bold-face number following each journal is the number of the pamphlet case in which unbound copies will be found, with the bound copies standing by it. Pamphlets have been classified under subjects and marked "miscellaneous," and are entered below under their respective headings. Those treating of no special subjects will be found in box 79.

LIBRARY REGULATIONS

All books in the library, except fiction and recent additions in great demand, are lent for fourteen days. Books of fiction are lent for seven days. Except in a few special cases all books may be renewed for a second term of seven or fourteen days. A fine of two cents per day is collected for all books overdue. Current journals and magazines are lent for three days; back numbers for fourteen days. Books and magazines are sent to persons living outside of Denver on payment of express or postage, and under simple requirements as to identification of the borrower and payments in case of loss. For many books sent to the non-resident borrower an extension of the usual time limit can be made.

Any reputable adult resident of Denver can become a borrower on agreeing over his own name to conform to the library rules in his use of books. Minors must have guarantors.

All members of the Colorado Medical Library Association may take books from the general library. The medical books and all other resources of the library are open to all comers, every one having access to all shelves, save only those containing fiction. This last restriction is solely because of lack of room.

Books given to, or deposited with, the library or the Medical Library Association, will be properly acknowledged and full receipts given where wished. Proper care and return on demand will be guaranteed to the owners in the case of books placed temporarily in library.

The Public Library is established and maintained by the Board of Education of School District Number One, Arapahoe County, Colorado. Its permanency and responsibility are therefore well assured. It is capable of receiving any gift, grant or devise. Donations of books or magazines, one or many, new or old, for the medical alcove or the general library, are always acknowledged and made accessible to all readers.

The library is open every day, including Sundays, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.
